

MERCURYGATE EDUCATION

MercuryGate is committed in 2017 to making its educational opportunities for clients stronger than ever. Training leads to expertise, which leads to gains in efficiency, productivity - and margin. In short, MercuryGate training offers a high return on investment.

Delivery Methods

You can get MercuryGate's training content three different ways:

1. Online. During 2017 we are converting all of our course content to online availability, giving us the chance to keep that content always up to date, and giving clients the chance to get the full benefit of knowledge on their own schedule and convenience. Just click on the online course link on the web page to enroll on demand.
2. Instructor-led training in our Cary classroom. Any of our classes can be delivered in a productive instructor led environment - most courses can be covered in 1 to 2 days. We'll schedule by mutual arrangement with you. Classes have a minimum enrollment requirement of five students. (One exception to the "by arrangement" scheduling is the fixed MercuryEdge/Mojo classroom schedule on the website.)
3. MercuryGate can come to you. In some cases it might make sense to ask us for a quote for coming to your location to lead group training for one or more of our course offerings.

Certification

Students must successfully complete course modules, examinations and/or laboratory assignments to receive a certificate in a course. While in all cases certification demonstrates achievement and command of the subject matter, in at least one subject area - dynamic rulesets - certification is required for the student to be granted subsequent access to the feature in the TMS.
